FIFTY-FIFTH YEAR NO. 6.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY JANUARY 13, 1933.

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

Poor Relief Bond Funds Allocated To Townships

The County Commissioners after a conference with township trustees and Xenia city have allocated $13,900 of the $20,000 bond issue available for poor relief and immediate distribution to be made. The plan must first be approved by the state relief commission.

The bond issue will be paid off from the proceeds of the special utility tax and this money is to be used to provide work for the unemployed, the head of a family or any able-bodied member of a family in destitute circumstances.

Xenia city will get $5,000. The trustees of the twelve townships as follows:

Xenia, Bath, Miami, Cedarville, Silvercreek, Beavercreek, each $1,000. Sugar Creek, $800; Spring Valley, $500. Ross, Jefferson, New Jasper and Caesar Creek, each $400.

The state relief commission has ordered that Xenia city and the township boards be authorized to care for relief needs in their respective communities, including the schools. The law makes exception in regard to the schools for children in need.

SEC. BROWN IS GUEST OF HONOR

One of the most unique as well as one of the largest attended testimonial dinners ever tendered a public official was that last Friday evening when nearly 1,000 friends, employees, and both Republican and Democratic leaders sat down to a banquet in the ball room at the Deshler-Wallack hotel in Columbus.

While the youngest elective state official in point of years, Mr. Brown is one of the oldest in service. In 1910 and 1916 he served as state auditor under Secretary of State C. Q. Hildebrandt. In 1918 he was elected Lieutenant Governor of Ohio, and served two terms. In 1926 he was elected Secretary of State and served three terms, the last ending Monday.

Thurman "Dusty" Miller, nationwide known humorist of Wilmington was toastmaster and presided in his usual manner, keeping the big crowd in an uproar as long as he was on the floor. There were a number of highly complimentary speeches in favor of Mr. Brown's personal and public record.

Mr. Brown said in part: "I am not thinking of the future, but rather of the past or the present can be forgotten. Both, and the part that you have played therein, my friends, shall live in my memory forever. I realize and appreciate that we are living now in a time of change. Problems have arisen in our generation that are entirely new. How we meet them and solve them from day to day will determine what the future will be. Let us give to those public officials who have been chosen to serve us, our whole-hearted support."

CLARENCE J. BROWN

"Naturally I am interested in my own party success. I feel the Republican in Ohio must assume the responsibilities and obligations of the major party. I believe the party must be re-built upon more solid foundations and re-dedicated to the principles and ideals that have made it great in the past. The Republican Party of Ohio has been based upon its interest in, and service to, the average citizen. Dictation of party affairs for personal gain can only bring failure. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were presented with a handsome silver service."

Two Urbana Boys Spend Night Here

Two youngsters, one 11 and the other about 18 drifted into the Richards Drug Store late Monday night to get warm. Nothing was thought of their stop until closing time when they were asked where they were from. They unhesitatingly replied Urbana and were bound for Ocia, near Sabina, to visit an uncle of one of the pair. They had been "thumbing" the way and got caught here.

They probably did not realize they were then the guest of the mayor and much more it developed they did not are. Mayor Richards gave them all the comfort possible in the jail room for the night. He called Urbana and found they were "runaways". The following day the Champaign County Sheriff and a Probation Officer took the boys back home.

President-Elect Will Get Ancient Burying Ground

When Franklin D. Roosevelt is inaugurated president of the United States on March 4, he will automatically become owner of "The President's Burying Ground," an ancient stone-enclosed plot three miles west of Lancaster.

The burying ground was built 100 years ago by a Fairfield county pioneer named Nathaniel Wilson, who deeded the property to President Andrew Jackson "and his successors in office forever," to be used for a final resting place only.

The inscription cut into the stone over the arched doorway tells of the purpose for which the inclosure was intended and further states that the builder blazed a trail from Chillicothe to the site of the structure in 1798, when the territory was inhabited by Indians and wild animals. Mr. Roosevelt will be the twenty-seventh president to be notified of the legacy on his inauguration day.

The wall surrounding the old Wilson burying ground is a marvel of construction. The plot is surrounded by a stone wall laid without mortar or cement on a stone foundation four feet in the ground. The stone wall is composed of blocks dove-tailed.

There are 10 graves of the Wilson family in the cemetery including those of Nathaniel Wilson. The work on the wall was started by Wilson in 1830, who died that year. It was completed by his son, Augustine in 1838. The tract was planted with locust trees and cedars of Lebanon brought from the Holy Land.

Wilson's idea in deeding it to the president and successors was to pre-empt the plot from ever falling into the hands of someone who might permit it to be ploughed over and destroyed as a cemetery.

The wall was erected without the noise of hammers and chisels and no loud talking was permitted. Wilson was always present and read to the workers from an old Scotch Bible of his Covenant ancestors.

NOT ALL BUILDING AND LOANS IN TROUBLE

Those that follow Columbus newspapers may get the idea that all the building and loan associations in the state are bankrupt and should be closed by receivership or other legal process regardless of the loss to home, farm owners or those who have money deposited with the institutions.

Judging from the nature of the campaign being conducted in Columbus citizens are being urged to bring receivership suits, if for nothing else than to muddy the waters for the management of all financial institutions in the state. The institution in question in Columbus is the Columbus Loan Association and back of this newspaper disturbance evidently is a bank fight, the Columbus not being a depositor in a chain banking system that is under the same control as the two newspapers. With such a background those that have interests in other building and loan associations should not be influenced with this newspaper-banking interest fight against the Columbus. We have no interest in the Columbus. We do not attempt to justify any act of its officers or whatever policy it has adopted in the past. We only wish to warn to public so that the Columbus situation will not be applied to other like institutions in Ohio. It can safely be said that the building and loan interests of the state and the banking interests as well, are not in accord with the methods being used by the Columbus newspapers to discredit all the building and loans in Ohio, for these newspapers are not discriminating or pointing out to their readers that there are other such institutions not even guilty of the charges the newspapers make against the Columbus.

Nothing more disastrous could happen to a building and loan, or even a bank, that for someone to bring receivership action unless the last resource had been exhausted, and then such action to come only after thorough examination by competent authority that no other course remained to protect the interests of home, farm owners, and depositors. Should some newspaper in a city where the chain bank operates adopt the same course we fear the Columbus papers now keeping up the fight against the Columbus would be the first to come to the defense of the chain bank. Supposing some depositor in the chain bank would bring a suit demanding to know whether the chain bank management was carrying an industrial stock like the American Rolling Mill Co. at what it cost, say $70 or what it might be worth the day the bank statement was issued, about $9. Other stocks and bonds might be mentioned. Such a charge could not be made against a building and loan so far as mortgages are concerned for they are on the books at what the loan calls for. We only mention the illustration to make our point clear.

The receivership route for a building and loan would under our system of liquidation result in loss by hundreds of thousands of dollars to depositors. It would mean the selling at public sale each home and farm that might be under mortgage to the association, even though you had it nine-tenths paid for. It can readily be seen that the public would rise up in indignation and those having property on the auction block would follow the Iowa farmer plan of organizing a buyers strike. From the political angle any sheriff or judge following such a course, unless approved by a large percent of building and loan patrons would be writing his political death warrant. Foreclosures are serious enough to property owners and come only as a last resort to meet legal requirements as a protection of those who do have a financial interest in the institution.

Troubles the building and loans are facing in a financial way today are much the same as the manufacturer, retail merchant and others are facing. Even the home owner that has his property paid for is having trouble meeting taxes if he is out of employment and no other income. Delinquent taxes in the course of time means the owner will lose his home if he cannot raise the money. Building and loans were never intended to be liquid institutions each day of the year. Because they were covering a period of unusual prosperity, is no reason that they always would be. There was a time when the home or farm could be sold probably once a month, it was then that the home or farm was "liquid." But neither are today and through the centuries past property has passed through just what it is facing today when there are few buyers.

Again we say, do not be unduly alarmed over the Columbus newspaper-bank-building and loan controversy for as far as we know Ohio has no other town or city where a campaign is on to tear down a building and loan to satisfy selfish desires. Brighter days are ahead of us and safe and sane co-operation will bring us out of the depression that has largely tied the hands of those in charge of financial institutions as well as individuals.

REFUNDS ON ROAD ASSESSMENTS

The proposed movement for refunds on road assessments is going to interest a lot of property owners as well as those who are not owners of either homes or farm property. When it comes to diverting say ten or twenty million dollars from the gasoline tax fund to reimburse those who have paid road assessments, and to care for unpaid bonds on the road improvements, there is bound to be objections from various sources. The main objection as we see it will come from other property owners who are paying assessments on streets now known as state highway connections. If all this property was to benefit the largest list of objectors would be removed.

The gasoline tax is collected from the general public for the automobile owners are so numerous now that they are considered the public at large. To use their gasoline tax money to pay refunds brings out a serious point of fairness. Taking the issue raised that only land owners paying road assessments should be refunded, why should a land owner that has not been assessed be compelled to pay in gas taxes for another land owner's assessment? Why should a citizen in any town or city be so taxed? We are not arguing the justice of the assessment plan but do not want to approve an unjust plan to reimburse someone else. In comparison with land and urban property owners the number of land owners that have paid or are still paying assessments, is very small. The proposal plan would not relieve a county road assessment in the state and there are hundreds of landowners paying county road assessments. The proposal under consideration is only to refund to those on state roads. In many counties the state road assessments are paid out in full and the land owners that paid all or most of the tax and has sold his farm would not get the refund.

To bring the issue direct why should not each and every property owner on Main street, now State Route 42 and 72 be reimbursed for the eight dollar a front foot assessment for the brick street? The same public that travels Route 42 East and West of town travels over this street, ninety-eight percent of the entire cost being assessed against the property frontage. Land assessment at two or three dollars an acre looks small in comparison with an eight dollar a front foot assessment, yet no mention is made about refunding assessments from public taxes to town property owners. It must also be taken into consideration that most of the highway road assessments were made following a petition signed by land owners being presented to the property authorities, knowing at the time such assessments were the only way to pay for the road petitioned for.

We are not sure Ohio can finance this repayment proposed but in case it we can suggest that all property owners in all the towns on state routes be organized to demand equal treatment. It will not be necessary to charge town property owners three per cent of the refund as is now being charged farmers by those who are making it a "racket." Town people will be willing to give their service and there will be far more individual owners in this group than the organizers of the land refund movement can muster. All we have to say is that if road assessments on land are refunded, the same assessments on city and town property on state routes must be refunded.

The action of the stockholders of the Xenia National Bank in electing Mrs. Mary Little Dice as a director is an innovation in this section of the state but not an innovation when her experience in handling business matters is taken into consideration. Mrs. Dice comes from a family long noted for their business ability and their success as executives. She is a sister of the late George Little, former president of the bank, and one of the best business men the county ever produced. Their father was the late Hon. John Little, statesman, lawyer and recognized financier, who at one time was president of the same institution. Mrs. Dice while a resident of California was active in business affairs for herself. She is a woman of conservative judgment and one who has kept up with the trend of the times in business circles. She is held in the very highest esteem in business circles and will be a valuable addition to the board of directors to which she was elected.

A member of the legislature has introduced a bill of some form supposed to require all banks to guarantee deposits. Without going into the merits of the bill we wish to refer only to an editorial in the Columbus Dispatch which represents chain banking, to their editorial following the introduction of the bill, exposing such legislation. Yet the Dispatch is quick to interest themselves in breaking down the building and loans. The Dispatch would have its readers believe it was much interested in building and loan patrons yet does not favor protection for bank depositors. A good chance for the Columbus editor to get his feet wet in the position he has taken.

While the Senate in Washington wastes hours of debate over a tax revision a department grants a refund of more than five million dollars to one return and more than forty thousand dollars on another, to the same estate. Somebody must have blundered in making out the returns. In as much as the estate that has been granted the above sum is headed by a prominent Republican member of the Hoover cabinet, it looks like now is the time to get what is wanted before March first. And yet people wonder why the results election day were against the Republicans.

While the House has passed the beer bill and sent it to the Senate, this body is tearing it to pieces and in most respects adopting the plan advocated by the Republican platform. The Senate Democrats must be setting a trap or purposely letting the Republicans have some of the credit for the beer bill. Senator Fess is quoted as saying he will support the bill if it is in accordance with his party's platform. How can President Hoover in the face of the Fess statement leave his party to vote the beer bill? The Republican leaders are nervous over the result of beer legislation feeling that unless they get in on the legislation the big city vote will for years be lost to them. And we must not forget that Senator Fess must come again in two years.

O. A. Dobbins has an interesting letter from A. S. Caughell, Warner, Alberta, Canada. He says what there was 35c this fall but was only 20c at the elevator now. In reply to a question about the Canadian liquor proposition Mr. Caughell says liquor is easy to get and people spend their money for liquor and cannot buy shoes for their children. He says there were many drunk on Xmas cheer in the form of booze. Liquor is purchased at government stores and beer is also sold in "parlors." Not all small towns have beer parlors. Warner has one

We are making headway towards reduction in some ways. This year the inauguration of Gov. White is said to have cost the state only $128,40. Two years ago the inauguration cost the state $1,894.43 and people wondered how it could be done. The cost this year is in contrast with what it cost to induce Gov. Cooper into office, $14,563.86.

Someone remarked the other day that it seemed foolish for Chicago to prepare for the coming Century of Progress, or World's Fair, as we used to call such events. The reason given was that people would not be able to attend by the hundreds of thousands owing to the depression. A little review of the World's Fair in Chicago back in 1893 is not out of place. It was in that period that we had what was known in those days as a "panic." In our march of progress we have found new names for the same old kind of diseases so we call the present panic a "depression." Regardless of the panic several million people found money to attend the greatest exhibition ever staged up to that time. The fair was a success financially and gave Chicago the start for one of the greatest cities in the country. In those days the only way people could get to Chicago was by railroad and more than one $5 round trip excursion was run from this section of the state and the railroads made money. However there were no Pullman sleepers nor air conditioned cars. Each passenger got his share of cinders. The five dollar fare in ordinary coaches will attract the people in great numbers again but such a thing is not likely. The railroads will keep up the fat and the people will ride on rubber tires.

We have one citizen in this country that certainly could be of service to Congress and Uncle Sam and show the way towards balancing the budget without additional taxes. This man is a former police reporter in Chicago; manager of prize fights; placed the first yellow taxiabs on the streets of New York City. He is none other than John D. Hertz. After dropping his pen and leaving newspaper work he developed into a great business executive. His success came easily for he knew how to manage and handle hundreds of employees. One of the great motion picture corporations was overloaded with expense and needed a balanced budget and a proposition was made Hertz, who knew little or nothing about the picture business. In 48 weeks Hertz had the picture company within its income. He had cut expenses $39,000,000 and the business became more profitable even during the depression. There is room for a John D. Hertz in Congress. What he did for the picture corporation he could do for Uncle Sam, something most Congressmen know nothing about.

O. A. Dobbins has an interesting letter from A. S. Caughell, Warner, Alberta, Canada. He says what there was 35c this fall but was only 20c at the elevator now. In reply to a question about the Canadian liquor proposition Mr. Caughell says liquor is easy to get and people spend their money for liquor and cannot buy shoes for their children. He says there were many drunk on Xmas cheer in the form of booze. Liquor is purchased at government stores and beer is also sold in "parlors." Not all small towns have beer parlors. Warner has one that made $17,000 in 1930. Conditions are such that if you do not use some booze you are boycotted and no minister can open his mouth against it. He says the business is more profitable in parlors than saloons as men can drink more, sitting down than standing up at the bar. He warns against adoption of the Canadian system.

GUM-DIPPED CORDS
 The Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process transforms the cotton cords into a strong, tough, sinewy unit. Liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, guarding against internal friction and heat, greatly increasing the strength of the cord body, and giving longer life.

TWO EXTRA GUM-DIPPED CORD PLIES UNDER THE TREAD
 This is a patented construction, and the two extra Gum-Dipped cord plies are so placed that you get 56% stronger bond between tread and cord body, and tests show 56% greater protection against punctures and blowouts. It sets a new standard for tire performance on high speed cars.

NON-SKID TREAD
 Tough, live rubber specially compounded for long, slow wear. Scientifically designed non-skid gives greater traction and safe, quiet performance.

Will Celebrate 55th Marriage Anniversary

MR. and MRS. W. H. BARBER

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barber will observe their 55th marriage anniversary with "open house" on Tuesday afternoon and evening when they will be pleased to welcome any and all of their friends. Five years ago on that date they observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary and entertained a large company of relatives and friends both afternoon and evening. Both have been life long residents of Cedarville and their "open house" invitation is again extended to their many friends. The event is entirely informal.

Local and Personal

Mr. W. A. Spencer has been on the sick list for more than a week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thayer of Urbana, O., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Scott for several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Townsley entertained the Dinner-Bridge Club last evening at their home at 6:30.

Mrs. Lula Watt entertained a few friends at six o'clock dinner at her home last Friday evening.

Mr. Carter N. Abel of Pedro, O., a former resident, stopped here for a brief visit Wednesday while on a business trip to Middletown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McKinnis of Silvertown, O., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Masters over the week-end. Mrs. McKinnis and Mrs. Masters are sisters.

The Mizpah Bible Class met with Mrs. Esta Williams, Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was opened by singing the Hymn "Come Thou Almighty King." Mrs. Huey read for the scripture lesson from the 55th chapter of Isaiah, after which Mrs. Steele led in prayer. The roll call was answered by resolutions that we ought to have made. The minutes were read by the secretary and approved. Mrs. A. E. Allen resigned as substitute teacher. The subject for discussion was: "Is the nation spending wisely, and are individuals spending wisely?" There was quite a spirited discussion. Miss Rosa Stormont read a short poem "Things" by Edgar Guest. The meeting adjourned for a social hour with the hostesses, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Conley, who served delicious refreshments.

PENNIES

spent for Electricity buy a lot of help for the farms of America

The same wires that bring you electric light also carry electric power and heat for many uses which are as big a convenience as lights themselves. You are not getting full value for the money you spent wiring your house and barn unless you put electric power and heat to work. They are the cheapest help you can hire, doing big jobs for a few cents a day.

To pump water, cook, refrigerate, saw wood, sharpen tools, grind and mix feed, cut ensilage and fill the silo, cool the milk... many other chores... Electricity does them quickly and cheaply.

If you are using Electricity for lights only, you will be pleased at how little extra these added services will cost each month. The more current you use, the lower rate you earn per kilowatt hour. We invite you to ask us to assist you with problems associated with your farm

Mr. Arthur Duffey, South Charleston, former leader of the U. P. choir, had an unusual experience Tuesday evening while driving to Springfield on the Clifton pike. When near Eider Corry's home he was forced off the road by an oncoming motorist. His car hit for the ditch and turned over plowing through the mud upside down and striking a telephone pole. Mr. Duffey remained in his seat and only sustained a bruised arm. The top of the car was demolished and it is almost a miracle how he escaped injury.

NEW AND NOVEL
BY CHERRIE SICHOLAS

Now that cunning little capes and jackets are made such an outstanding feature in the formal evening mode, designers are devising all sorts of clever and unusual accessories along this line. The bolero-and-muff set here sketched is fashioned of sheer white material arranged in tier upon tier of tiny ruffles. The black velvet dress which it tops is fastened along youthful lines as is also the black evening toque which completes the ensemble. A most perfect costume is this for the debutante who may be attending the wedding of a sorority sister. The little ermine cape is tied at the front in cravat manner. It is worn with a dress fashioned of corduroy-stripe brown velvet. It is a Vera Boreca creation.

Plaid Velvet
A chic little tricornie of plaid velvet with an ascot scarf to match is one of the newest offerings of fashion. The two are charming to wear with your fur coat to give a bit of color to an otherwise one-color costume.

SCHOOL NEWS

School Sponsors Literary Movie Under the auspices of the school, this community will be privileged to see at the local opera house, January 28, the sound picture, "Lady of the Lake."

This picture based upon Sir Walter Scott's poem, "The Lady of the Lake," portrays vividly the narrative, which is brought to the screen with musical background of a sixty-voice chorus and a concert orchestra. The film itself was produced in the highlands of Scotland, the setting of the poem.

In addition to the feature picture, there will be a sound cartoon comedy, "Pigskin Capers" and a travel talk on Java. If this picture is favorably received, it is planned to bring others of equal merit. Remember the date is Saturday, January 28, at the Cedarville opera house. Admission will be ten cents for everyone.

The program for the High School Chapel Hour, Jan. 16th.

Introductory remarks by Miss Rosa Stormont.

Story of the 18th Amendment by Rev. Hutchison.

Temperance Songs led by Mrs. Foster.

Now is the time for all friends of prohibition to arouse themselves and buckle the armor a little tighter and renew the warfare against the rum demon. Onward, Christian soldiers, advance against the enemy. We must keep America dry.

The bill to legalize 3.2 per cent beer by weight, which means 4 per cent beer by volume passed in the House of Representatives December 21, by a vote of 230 to 165. There were 40 absentees. It is somewhat doubtful whether this bill will pass in the Senate and if the Senate should concur we still doubt that President Hoover would sign it. It is very strange that the wet members of the House should be more interested in bringing back beer than in attempting to provide means to bring relief to the unemployed.

Whiting Williams, Cleveland, the famous socialist and investigator of industrial conditions, says: "All the speakeries of the city are not handling as much either of alcohol or money as crossed a single average saloon bar during a single morning of 1919."

Dry leaders believe that President Hoover will veto a bill legalizing beer. They base their judgment on the fact that the Wickersham commission is opposed to such an illegal effort, also that Mr. Hoover said, "To permit that which the Constitution forbids is unthinkable." Beer of the sort he wants is intoxicating; there is no doubt about it. If they want non-intoxicating beer there is plenty made and sold today of less than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content. —The Signal.

The judge declared, however, that it was hard enough to drive even though one's head was clear, and that

"one drink" is enough to make a man guilty." "If you can convince me that beer builds up the American home, fortifies its children, strengthens the parents to do their jobs more efficiently, or lessens the risk of physical injury and the dangers of vehicular traffic, you will have justified your claim and I shall have advocated an erroneous doctrine."

"But the facts based on experience flatly contradict the efficacy of beer or of any other intoxicating liquors when used as a beverage, to confer the physical benefits we have named. Milk produces a higher level of intelligence in our children than any other foods, while beer befuddles the brains of its users." Dr. S. Parks Cadman.

cotton at 42c a pound and flour at $9 a barrel. Mr. Gray says his mother purchased the copy of the Herald when she was 15 years of age. It is dated Saturday, April 15 1865.
